the articles discuss various aspects of jewish identity in the greco roman period was there a common jewish identity and how could it be defined how could different groups develop and maintain their identity within the challenge of hellenistic and early roman culture what about the images of others how could some of those others adopt a jewish lifestyle or identity whereas others abandoned their inherited identity among the questions discussed are the translation of ioudaios jewish and universal identity in philo the status of women and their conversion to judaism the participation of non jews in the temple cult the practice of emperor worship in judaea and the image of egypt and the Nile as others in philo two articles enter the debate whether jewish identity had an ongoing influence within early christianity in paul and in the rules known as the apostolic decree this work includes essays on aspects of judaism in the greco roman world they derive from the author's long standing interests in the analysis of texts as documents of cultural and religious interaction wilhelm herzberg's novel jewish family papers which was first published under a pseudonym in 1868 was one of the bestselling german jewish books of the nineteenth century its numerous editions reviews and translations into dutch english and hebrew are ample proof of its impact herzberg's jewish family papers picks up on some of the most central contemporary philosophical religious and social debates and discusses aspects such as emancipation antisemitism jewishness and judaism nationalism and the christian religion and culture as well as gender roles so far however the novel has not received the scholarly attention it so assuredly deserves this bilingual volume is the first attempt to acknowledge how this outstanding source can contribute to our understanding of german jewish literature and culture in the nineteenth century and beyond through interdisciplinary readings it will discuss this forgotten bestseller embedding it within various contemporary discourses religion literature emancipation nationalism culture transnationalism gender theology and philosophy publisher description

conventionally the history of the rabbinic movement has been told as a distinctly intra jewish development a response to the gaping need left by the tragic destruction of the jerusalem temple in 70 ce in rabbis as romans hayim lapin reconfigures that history by drawing sustained attention to the extent to which rabbis participated in and were the product of a roman and late antique political economy rabbis as a group were relatively well off literate jewish men an urban sub elite in a small generally insignificant province of the roman empire that they were deeply embedded in a wider roman world is clear from the urban orientation of their texts the rhetoric they used to describe their own group mirroring that used for greek philosophical schools their open embrace of roman bathing and their engagement in debates about public morals and gender that crossed regional and ethnic lines rabbis also form one of the most accessible and well documented examples of a nativizing traditionalist movement in a roman province it was a movement committed to articulating the social ritual and moral boundaries between an israelite us and the nations to attend seriously to the contradictory position of rabbis as both within and outside of a provincial cultural economy says lapin is to uncover the historical contingencies that shaped what later generations understood as simply judaism and to reexamine in a new light the cultural work of roman provincialization itself erwin goodenough s classic thirteen volume work a magisterial attempt to encompass human spiritual history in general through the study of jewish symbols in particular revealing that the jewish religion of the period was much more varied and complex than the extant talmudic literature would lead us to believe goodenough offered evidence for the existence of a hellenistic jewish mystic mythology far closer to the qabbalah than to rabbinical judaism
